Edwardsburgh Cardinal

The Township of Edwardsburgh Cardinal offers many wonderful sights, activities and adventures for visitors of all ages. Explore the area and discover the township's rich place in history with heritage sites and experiences that will take you hundreds of years into the past.

Visit the Spencerville Mill and Museum, an actual grist mill constructed in the early 1800s. In the midst of beautiful parks and the South Nation River, the Mill is nestled into the charming historical downtown Spencerville. Grab lunch from a local restaurant and enjoy a picnic lunch surrounded by the history of this village. Spencerville comes alive for many special events throughout the year. Every September, the Spencerville Fair welcomes thousands to join this celebration of agriculture.

Just minutes from the Prescott-Ogdensburg bridge connecting the Township to the USA, you'll find the Battle of the Windmill - a National Historic site in New Wexford. Walk the winding pathways of this site and climb to the top of the lighthouse for stunning views of the seaway, or explore the boardwalk near the Port of Johnstown for the best photos of the international bridge.

Our waterfront provides a wealth of recreational opportunities along the St. Lawrence River. Boating and canoeing allow for beautiful and unique interactions with nature, while fishing finds countless species of freshwater fish. Take advantage of Cardinal's boat launch, docks, volleyball and horseshoe pits with front row seats to international ships passing by.

The Galop Canal and historic shipwrecks of the St. Lawrence Seaway are commemorated with plaques you can find throughout the Village of Cardinal. Scuba dive in one of the clearest freshwater settings in the entire world, allowing you to discover a variety of challenges and rewards, ranging from basic exploration to advanced shipwreck exploration. There are two shipwrecks in Cardinal for divers to explore, the Conestoga and the Wee Hawk. You can even see the top of the Conestoga breaching the water line from the shore! Cyclists can take advantage of the Great Lakes Waterfront Trail, a 3600km signed trail connecting Canada's Great lakes to the St. Lawrence River.

Only an hour from Ottawa, Cornwall, or Kingston, and just across the river from Ogdensburg, USA, Edwardsburgh Cardinal is the perfect place to stop when travelling in Eastern Ontario and South Grenville.

Designated a national historic site in 1973 it is a typical example of the smaller stations erected for the Grand Trunk Railway. Influenced by English designs, the station is an enduring monument to early Canadian railway enterprise.

The Rotary Lighthouse's lantern, originally mounted atop the Dominion Lighthouse Depot just east of today's Canadian Coast Guard Base, features a Fresnel lens and other navigational aids once used to train lighthouse keepers from across Canada. Visitors can take self-guided tours to the top and explore the history of the waterfront through Interpretive Panels located on the 2nd and 3rd floors.

For 170 years, The Spencerville Agricultural Society has served as the community's connection between rural and urban living taking pride to represent and celebrate agriculture through education and teachable moments.
